Worley Predicts War to be Long

Enemies Have Resources; Warns Citizens Not to Become Over Confident

Congressman Eugene Worley issued a warning to Randall county people Thursday night that we are in for a long war with Japan. His visit here was for the purpose of reporting to the people of the district his experiences in the navy and his findings in Washington after returning from active combat service.

At the end of his talk he stated that he had met Lieut. Luclus Penick a short time before the untimely death of Lieut Penick in a plane accident.

Mr. Worley praised our military leadership, and stated that the equipment of the American fighting man was the best in the world.

Without doubt Hitler is the No. 1 enemy of the United Nations. Once he is disposed of, a powerful fleet will be ready to move against the Japs. Mr. Worley hopes that the Russians will join us in making short work of the Japs.

"It will be no easy job to get into Germany. The Germans still believe that they are the super race. They are good fighters. They have conquered great resources, which they are using to build up their war machine," stated the Congressman.

The speaker termed the Japs as beasts. They have been planning this war since 1927. They have no fear of death, and we are finding that they are much better prepared than we ever thought possible. Our navy has tried to engage the Jap fleet, but so far has not been successful. By destroying their navy we can cut their supply lines. We could afford to lose two ships to one of theirs and still come out ahead.

Today there are American fighting men in 56 different parts of the world. We have about 9 million men under arms, with 2 millions abroad. Mr. Worley does not believe that air power alone will knock out the enemy, but it is doing much to soften up the enemy and to destroy his vital war plants.

Mr. Worley stated that everyone in Washington deplored the waste in the war, and Congress was trying to eliminate as much waste as possible. As a precaution millions of dollars have been invested in stores of poison gas. We have so much gas that the enemy has not used it, knowing that we have an adequate supply to fight him back. Plants have been overbuilt, causing waste, but we cannot be caught again with too little too late.

Inflation is the greatest enemy on the home front. The dollar today is worth 79c as compared with 1939. Congress is doing everything within its power to head off further inflation.

Mr. Worley asked citizens to reflect when they are confronted with regulations and shortages that the men in service, those engaged in battle are the ones who are making the real sacrifices in this war.

Balance of Wheat Parity '42 Being Made in Randall

Farmers in Randall county are now receiving payment of the balance of the parity on the 1942 wheat crop. This payment was necessary to adjust the payment of the 1942 crop to the corrected parity formula.

The total for Randall county is expected to be about $175,000.

No parity payment has been provided on the 1943 wheat crop.

The payments now being received are supposed to bring the 1942 wheat crop up to full parity.

A payment of 8.5 cents per bushel on the 1943 wheat allotment has been announced by the War Food Administration in connection with the regular AAA Conservation Program. This payment will be started as soon as compliance reports can be completed and mailed to the State office.

Light Rain Falls in Canyon Sunday a. m.

Canyon had a light rain Sunday morning. The total moisture registered was .28 of an inch.

The rain moderated the temperature considerable, and was of some value to vegetation. As has been the case in other rains this year, the amount of moisture varied over the county.

Mrs. J. S. Cleland is spending this week visiting in Waco and College Station.

$259,000 Bonds September Quota

August Quota Has Not Yet Been Met; Third War Drive Will Start September 9

Randall County's quota of War Bonds during the Third War Loan Drive has been set at $259,000, according to information received by R. H. Wright, county chairman.

This amount is considerably higher than the quota of other drives, but the need for money has greatly increased as the war progresses.

The drive will start September 9. Seven types of bonds will be offered in this drive, as follows:

U. S. War Bonds, Series E, which is the favorite type of bond for the average investor. The interest is 2.90% on a ten year basis.

U. S. Savings Bonds, F, maturing in 12 years, with interest rate of 2.53%.

U. S. Savings Bonds, G, maturing in 12 years, at 2½% interest. They are registered in the name of the purchaser.

Treasury Saving Notes, Series C, maturing in three years, with interest at 1.07%.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-69. These bonds bear 2½% and may be registered if desired.

2% Treasury Bonds of 1951-53, bearing 2% and may be registered.

Certificate of Indebtedness, 7/8% interest, Series E-1944, due Sept. 1, 1944. Issued in denominations of $1,000 up.

These seven types of bonds offer a wide range of investments, and are suited to the average individual.

Treatment For Smut Needed by Randall Farmers

Unless a farmer is certain that his seed wheat is free from smut infection it should be cleaned and treated before planting, according to County Agent W. H. Upchurch.

Ten to fifteen years ago Texas winter wheat suffered heavily from smuts. But as a result of seed treatment during the past few years only a comparatively small amount now grades smutty. This does not mean that the disease has been eradicated and that it is safe to neglect treatment. If some smut spores are present and the seed is not treated there might, under favorable conditions, be serious losses from smutty wheat.

Most farmers are familiar with the dust treatment in which either copper carbonate or mercury phosphate (called improved Ceresan) is used.

Owing to the war time shortage of wheat drills it is recommended that either a 50% copper carbonate or the improved Ceresan be used. Low grade copper carbonate (20%) is effective in smut control, but owing to the fact that about 4 ounces per bushel of seed is necessary it often clogs the seeding mechanism of the drill and sometimes is the cause of a serious breakdown.

One-half ounce of improved Ceresan or two ounces of 50% copper carbonate per bushel is considered sufficient to control smut if the seed and powder is mixed in an air tight container. If low grade copper carbonate is used it will require about 4 ounces.

Miss Elaine Blewett returned last Friday from Washington, D. C. and will remain here until she leaves to go to school in the University of Texas this fall.

Income Tax Man Will Assist in Tax Estimates

One out of every three taxpayers will be required to file Declarations of their earned Income and Victory Taxes for the year 1943 on or before September 15, 1943. Farmers, considered to be those persons receiving at least 80% of their gross income from farming operations (as distinguished from agricultural laborers receiving wages or salaries) must file their Declarations on or before December 15, 1943.

In order to assist taxpayers in the preparations of these Declarations, Deputy Collector H. T. Warren will be in Canyon, at the First National Bank, September 2, 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Deputy Collector Warren will be glad to give all possible information on the matter of filing Declarations, but in order to save his time, your time and that of other taxpayers, he urges you to bring the necessary information for estimating your 1943 Income and Victory Taxes when you consult with him. Canning Sugar Rules Are Set Up

T. S. Stevenson, Clerk, Gives Housewives Information on Vital Subject

There has been some misunderstanding of the home canning sugar program. T. S. Stephenson, chief clerk for the Local Board, says sugar for the purpose of producing processed foods from fresh fruits for home use may be obtained and used at the rate of not more than one pound of sugar per four quarts of finished processed fruits.

Sugar for the purpose of making jams, jellies, preserves, or fruit butters may be obtained and used by a consumer in an amount not to exceed five pounds. The weight value of coupons or certificates issued by the Board, however, shall in no event exceed 15 pounds per person because stamp No. 15 and No. 16 in ration book No. 1 are each good for 5 pounds of canning sugar. Present regulations states, the total amount of sugar which may be obtained by a consumer for both these purposes for the period from March 1st, 1943 to Feb. 29th, 1944, inclusive shall not exceed 25 pounds.

The Tire Board is busy in the office all day Saturday and request you do not come on that day for sugar.

Mr. Stevenson states that if there are any questions regarding any rationing problems which are not clear, the staff would welcome the opportunity in trying to assist you.

Ration Book III Will Start on September 12

Brown ration stamps in War Ration Book III will be used by consumers to purchase rationed meats, fats, oils and rationed dairy products beginning September - . War Book III is a replacement book for I and II.

The brown stamps that become valid on September 12 are the "A" stamps good for 16 points; "B" stamps also good for 16 points become valid September 10. Both expire on October 2. Other brown stamps become valid on successive Sundays but always expire on the Saturday nearest the end of a month, such as C, Sept. 26; D, Oct. 3; E, Oct. 10; and F, Oct. 17. All are good for 16 points and all expire on October 30.

There will be a period when the final set of meat (red) stamps in War Ration Book II and the brown stamps in Book III will both be usable. Red Stamps Z, Y and Z all expire October 2. The brown stamps in Book III are similar in size and have the same point value as the red stamps in Book II.

DeWayne Garrell returned Tuesday morning to his home in Plainview after visiting a few days with Harold J. Williams.

210,948 Acres of Wheat Is Goal

Increased Acreages Allowed in Order to Meet Food Needs; No Wheat Payments for '44

The 1944 wheat acreage goal for Randall County has just been received in the County Agent's office.

The county share of the increased wheat acreage is 210,948 acres for the 1944 harvest. This compares to about 169,000 acres this year and about 149,000 acres for the 1942 harvest and represents about a 25% increase over the 1942 and 1943 allotments.

It is of interest to note that the 1942 acreage seeded was the smallest since 1928. The 1942 crop was the largest in total bushels produced since 1931.

The acreage goal of 210,948 for 1944 is almost exactly the same as the 1930 acreage. This acreage has been exceeded only five times in the past 16 years. This acreage represents 65% of the crop land in the county and is considered to be about as high as is consistent with good farming practices. The acreage not suitable for wheat, together with the acreage required for feed crops and for summer fallow, is thought by many farmers to be more than the remaining 35%.

The county committee has not yet decided whether individual farm goals will be set. This is not required of the county unless it is thought necessary to secure the total acreage goal for the county.

Present legislation does not provide for wheat payments in 1944. Soil-building practice payments will be made for approved practices made during the 1944 year. Wheat loans are provided for at not less than 85% of parity.

Loan rates will be announced as early as possible in 1944.

It is contemplated that any producer of acceptable wheat will be eligible to participate in the 1944 loan program unless he has adopted practices inconsistent with good farming practices for the area in which his farm is located.

According to word just received in the county office from the Texas State Committee the following practices are those which, if adopted, will make a producer ineligible for a loan.

1. Plowing up native sod to increase the farm wheat acreage.
2. Seeding wheat on restoration land.
3. Seeding wheat on land which is in poor state of cultivation, or on "blow" land.
4. Seeding wheat "fence to fence" where strip cropping is needed to prevent erosion.

Other practices may be added to these upon recommendation by the county committee and with the approval of the State Committee.

The increased wheat acreage is thought to be necessary by the National Food Administrator because the total consumption of wheat has soared to record levels and continues to increase.

The high rate of consumption is due in part to the increased use of wheat as livestock feed. The consumption of wheat for the past twelve months was 10% above the very large consumption during the previous twelve months.

We need as large an acreage of wheat for harvest next year as can be grown with sound farming methods and after reserving sufficient land for other crops needed in the war emergency.

The over-all program for 1944 food production emphasizes the importance of "balanced production" among essential commodities and of following "sound practices" which will insure maximum yields over a period of years. Wheat farmers are cautioned against reckless plowing up of native sod land which recently has geen returned to permanent grass land. They should maintain strip cropping and fallow rotation practices.

Frend of Captain M. Warren Here

Captain Turner of the Army Air Corps visited in the W. A. Warren home a short time Sunday morning. He was on his way to his home in Floydada after serving in Alaska. He left his base in Alaska 10 days previously coming by boat for 8 days, and 2 days by plane.

Capt. Turner is a friend of Captain Meredith Warren and the two had been serving together in Alaska. He related many thrilling experiences in bombing raids on the Japs.

Marvin Jones Speaks Out

"This country is too broad, too far-flung, too varied in its production to have the work done by directives from Washington."

Texas' own Marvin Jones, the current food administrator, uttered the heresy, and if he doesn't pipe down with that sort of stuff he may find himself the ex-food adminisrator.

Imagine, a Washington office holder admitting that the people can work out the Nation's food program—or any program, for that matter—without "directives from Washington." He even urged the people to join in voluntary team work to produce the food we need.

We fear that the former congressman from Amarillo will be ostracized by the Amalgamated Order of Bureaucrats and Federal Payrollers for uttering this further near-treason: "We can only assist; we must rely largely upon the State, county and community organizations of real people who have builded America and are in a position to save America and her institutions, all of which are at stake in the conflict with which we are now faced."

Truly, Mr. Jones has betrayed those who have worked so hard to make the people of this country believe they cannot do anything without bureaucratic direction and control.

Next thing you know he will be advocating fidelity to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, and then he'll sure be a gonner.

The question still is, what may we expect from Russia? With the recall of Litvinoff, we have another flood of speculation. We have not trusted Russia in the past, and Russia has not had much faith in us. We have sent Russia only 10% of the lend-lease goods which Roosevelt promised Stalin, and Russia has barred all of our military experts from observing the Russian-German battle. If the United Nations have snubbed Stalin in any way, we may expect Stalin to repay in kind. We have failed to open a second front and have allowed Russia to first stop Hitler and then drive back the German hordes. That's a pretty big and costly job. If Stalin figures that we are letting him down, he will not be any too particular about saving our necks when we do open the second front. As a matter of fact, it is well known that Hitler would be willing to make any kind of a peace treaty with Russia now, so that his troops could concentrate his hold on the balance of Europe. Considering the fact that the defending army always has the best of the argument, the picture is none too pretty. Facts are that it took us longer than anticipated to knock out three and one-half Nazi divisions on Sicily with our 150,000 men. Just figure how long it would take us to knock out 200 divisions of Nazi who are well placed in Hitler's European fortresses.

We are told that only the intervention of the President stopped OPA from cutting the value of gasoline coupons to two gallons, instead of three gallons, which became effective last week. The President believed this reduction was too radical at this time. OPA should tell the people the truth about the gasoline situation. If there is not enough gasoline and not enough rubber to go around, the people will do anything within reason to help win the war. But if OPA is merely trying to punish some sections of the country, then the people have a real holler coming. The President recently told the people how much gasoline it takes to fly one of our big bombers. Multiply this by 50,000 or more planes, and we can see the tremendous amount of gasoline that is being consumed. It would be unpatriotic and selfish on our parts if we continued burning up gasoline in unnecessary driving if our fighting men were being deprived of gasoline. OPA should tell us the truth, and every patriotic American will submit to necessary regulations.

The black market is as dangerous to the safety of our Democracy as the professional bootlegger. No one who patronizes the black market has a right to boast of his Democracy.

The Japs left Kiska without a struggle. It appears that at last some of the Japs are becoming realistic and prefer to be live cowards than to be dead heroes.

We have been told a number of times recently that "Members of the draft board are sure catching hell for having sent so and so to the army." Usually the cussing is because "so and so" has not been sent. The situation will be tougher from now on as pre-Pearl Harbor fathers are selected, while single men and men without children are not sent to the army. Selective Service boards welcome any information that any citizen may have about any man who should be sent to the army. These boards work under strict regulations from Washington. If they deviate from these regulations, they will be overruled on appeals. Every board knows that there are many men who escape military service with wilfully manipulating their occupations, and there is nothing that can be done about it. As a matter of fairness to draft boards and to men alike, bring your troubles directly to the boards and assist them, rather than hampering their work by unfounded rumors and false accusations.

As the war progresses, it is more and more apparent that America is producing some of the best military leaders of the war. The human element of this leadership appeals to all of us. The lives of our men are not being recklessly risked in battle. Our men have the best machines and equipment that is used in the war. If there is any sacrifice to be made, the machines are sacrificed and lives of the men spared. The manner in which the Democracies are saving their fighting force should make a profound impression on the people who have been run over by the dictators. It took us a long time to get started, but this new civilian army, officered by a small number of professional soldiers and supplemented by civilian officers, is becoming the best armed service in the war.

When the war first started the Newsman, who is an expert (?) military strategist, told a local service club that when the infantry was thrown into the fight we would expect to see a beginning of the end. In other words, regardless of tanks, planes and big guns, it was a belief months ago that the war would finally have to be won by assault of the mighty doughboys. If you will dig into history, you will find that the infantry has been called upon in every other war to finally win. Regardless of the power of our other branches of service in this war, we still believe that it will be the infantry, supplemented by these branches of service, which will finally put the finishing touches to Italy, Germany and Japan, in the above named order. What do you other experts have to say?

Legislative committees are taking a hand in the firing of professors in the University of Texas and at A. & M. College. Chances are these investigations will clear the boards of regents. Regents are usually high class men, who stand high in their communities and in the state. They seldom act hastily or without just reason. No doubt it is a hard thing to fire members of a faculty, or other employees of the state. Administrators of state institutions will usually put up with inferior people rather than go through the agony of trying to fire some one. About all that these investigations usually amount to is offering an opportunity of the fired individual to air his grievances, and to give the newspaper boys something to write about.

Canyon citizens did a pretty good job of cleaning up last Wednesday, with the exception of weeds on large vacant tracts. Like all towns, there is much vacant property in Canyon, and little is done by the owners to keep these places cleaned up. It is argued that flies do not breed in weed patches, only in filthy alleys and stock pens. That is probably true, but allowing weeds to stand on vacant lots is a pretty good incentive for neighboring householders to allow the filth to accumulate, and thereby cause breeding places for flies. Getting the weeds cut may not keep down flies, but it will sure help the looks of Canyon.

The President has cracked down on unruly labor leaders and unpatriotic firms which are hampering the war. This is the first time that the President has shown much of a disposition to stage a fight against labor. He has directed that striking men are subject to military service, and the unions cannot collect dues. This is getting at the source of the trouble. When the union leaders cannot collect dues, they are deprived of their big stick. John L. Lewis and other union leaders are able to flash quarter and half million checks, which make pretty good political sop.

Congressman Eugene Worley does not paint a bright picture as to the prospects of an early end of the war. Mr. Worley is trying to be realistic. Those who think the war is just about over are pretty apt to gauge their war efforts for an early ending. In such a case if the war continues for a long period they will be caught short. Planning for a long war is the only sensible thing. If the war ends suddenly and before we are expecting it, we shall be just that much ahead.

Who's fight is this? asked a father the other day. He then went on to say that it was not alone the war for single boys, or for men without children. Fathers have as much or more at stake in this war as the first two named classes. This man believed that 99% of the fathers of this nation are perfectly willing to join the armed forces when the government feels that they are needed to defend the country. Such patriotism is very refreshing.

URGES CUT IN LABOR DAY TRAVEL

Stay off trains and inter-city busses over Labor Day week-end—this is the plea of Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation. Mr. Eastman, in asking the public to spend Labor Day week-end at home, said that failure to follow this advice might result in travel congestion worse than that experienced over the Fourth of July week-end. Mr. Eastman pointed out that transportation equipment formerly available for holiday travel is now in troop service or used to handle the greatly expanded military and essential civilian traffic.

MAIL CHRISTMAS GIFTS EARLY

Christmas gifts to naval and marine personnel overseas should be sent between September 15 and November 1. This period has been designated by the Navy Department in cooperation with the Post Office Departments. Parcels must not exceed 5 pounds in weight.

JOBS TO GUIDE FATHER-DRAFT

After October 1, when drafting of fathers begins, those in non-deferable activities or occupations, regardless of their order numbers, will be the first fathers called for military service. Those who transfer to essential occupations and thus release single men for military service help to decrease the need for drafting fathers. Generally speaking, after October 1, the occupation of an eligible registrant will determine whether he will be inducted or deferred if his number is called. However, the question of hardship of dependents must be given consideration in each case.

SAVE ALL FATS

With millions of pounds of waste kitchen fats still needed to meet war demands, Paul C. Cabot, Director of WPB Salvage Division, recently urged housewives to remember that even if accumulated fats become rancid, they still retain a majority of the valuable glycerine that goes into war production. Some housewives, believing that rancid fats are valueless, have not been turning them in for salvage. This has resulted in the loss of thousands of pounds of glycerine that could have been processed from these fats.

NEW GASOLINE COUPONS

Car owners who still hold the old type "B" and "C" gasoline ration coupon books should exchange them for the new mileage ration sheets of coupons between August 23 and September 1. Old type "B" and "C" coupons become invalid September 1, and gasoline dealers cannot accept them on and after that date. The old type coupons are identified by the words "Permits Delivery of One Unit of Gasoline." The new type says "Mileage Ration" plus a large "B" or "C".

WHEAT GOALS FOR 1944

State wheat acreage goals for 1944, representing an apportionment of the national goal of 68 million acres—26 per cent above this year's seedings—were announced recently by the War Food Administration. County goals will be established on the basis of these state figures and will constitute the wheat goals farmers will be urged to meet in 1944. In broad terms, the WFA advises farmers to plant as much wheat as possible without departing from sound farming practices and after reserving sufficient land for expanding other urgently needed crops.

MORE NURSES NEEDED

Many American hospitals cannot maintain normal standards of service today because of the lack of nurses, according to reports made to the U. S. Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency. A year from now America will need 359,000 nurses—or 100,000 more than are now available. Of this number 66,000 will be needed for military service and 293,000 for civilians. Because of limited facilities, the maximum that can be trained within this period is 65,000.

ADDRESS OVERSEAS MAIL PROPERLY

Because more than 10 per cent of the mail destined for overseas is incorrectly or insufficiently addressed, the War Department has asked that the sender be sure to give the soldier's rank, name, army serial number, organization and army post office number. Following is a model address:

Pvt. John Doe, ASN, 1234567890
Battery B, 227th Field Artillery Battalion
APO 29, C/O The Postmaster,
New York, N. Y.

The War Department also asks that families and friends of soldiers send clippings instead of periodicals whenever possible to save cargo space.

A farmer was sowing his ground when two smart fellows rode by and one of them called out with an insolent air: "Well, honest fellow, it's your business to sow, but we raep the fruits of your labor." To this the farmer replied jovially, "'Tis very like you may, for I am sowing hemp."

College Building To Be Repainted Black and White

The Administration Building is having its face lifted. For the first time in almost twelve years, the building is receiving a coat of paint.

President Hill stated that the windows of the auditorium will not be painted at this time as they will be replaced as soon as possible with a more modern type of window than is available at the present time.

CARD OF THANKS

"Thank you" is a little word
With lots of feeling in it
When its said to our dear friends
Who were always with us.
Every thought and prayer you made
Every act of kindness
Every flower, and card you sent
Made our hard days brighter.
When our courage wavered
Strength came from our friends
Divine power never failed us
May God Bless you for it.

Being motor-minded as you are, thought you'd be interested in this ad that Mother clipped from the Express. It made us stop—and act! Because our car isn't used much these days, we had the idea it could come to no harm. This appears to be all wrong. Because of infrequent use and slow driving, the ad says that acid tends to corrode the engine—(which I'm sure you'll understand). So, we've followed Conoco's advice and are keeping the engine oil-plated with Conoco Nth oil. We're doing everything possible to make this car last until you get back, for I'm sure it will be some time before the new cars are on the market. Au

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

by BOYCE HOUSE

Galveston has the charm that New Orleans is supposed to possess. The island city has aging Southern home and buildings of quaint architecture, notably the Galveston News edifice with its Moorish facade.

A sign reads, "compasses adjusted," a reminder that you are in a seafaring city. A curio shop has a whole chicken preserved in a bottle; how the creature was gotten into the bottle is a puzzle.

There are cafes over the water. And you take a voyage if you come from Beaumont or Port Arthur, as there is a ferry. (Coming from Houston, you cross the causeway). Oleanders in pink and white are in the parks, in the parkways and in the yards. There are numerous statues, including the seated figure, heroic-sized, of the donor in front of the famous library.

In the water and strolling along the broad beach-walk are throngs of happy people. And on the sandy stretches, away from the city, are isolated shacks, perhaps containing a plank from a Spanish galleon of Jean LaFitte's day.

The island—with its golden sand and blue sky flecked with white clouds, and its swishing, silver waves and the endless sea with its music and its mystery—is truly a spot of never-ceasing fascination.

When your columnist saw a small item on an inside page of one of the dailies conveying the startling news that we were on the verge of having a special session of the legislature "to deal with the deficit in the State's general fund," I wrote an open letter asking if the deficit hasn't been in existence for eight or ten years? If it isn't less now than it was two years ago? If high State officials had not said the deficit would automatically wipe itself out in the course of time? Why, then, had it suddenly become necessary to do something about the deficit ,and, if there was such a necessity, why wasn't action taken at the regular session, which lasted the full 120 days and cost hundreds of thousands of dollars?

Next day, the special session "to deal with the deficit in the general fund," was called off, with the result that your state taxes were reduced by $9,000,000 for the year at hand. When you go to the collector's office to pay your taxes, would it be asking too much to spare a passing thought to old Boyce House who helped to create a sentiment that made this saving possible?

Sgt. D. A. Butler Writes Mother That He Is Interned

Mrs. Mamie Butler received a letter Wednesday from her son, S/Sgt. Daniel A. Butler. He is interned in a neutral country, presumably Turkey.

The War Department wired Mrs. Butler two weeks ago yesterday that Sgt. D. A. Butler was reported missing in action. A few days later press dispatches revealed that he was on one of the Army bombers which raided the Roumanian oil fields and was forced down in Turkey.

Sgt. Butler states that he is well, and the people are treating the Americans swell. The boys have plenty to eat. He advised his mother, "Don't worry about me, I'm in good hands."

This was indeed welcomed news to Mrs. Butler and members of her family after two weeks of uncertainty.

FSA Making Loans to Farmers Needing Help Water Supply

Farmers in Randall county who need government financing with which to repair their home and farmstead water facilities or to install new equipment with which to produce food and care for livestock may obtain loans for these purposes from the Farm Security Administration, Mrs. Lillie Belle McClure, FSA Supervisor announced this week.

Farm Security loans, Mrs. McClure, advised, are still available to farmers who cannot obtain credit elsewhere for farmstead and domestic water needs. Loans are open to both tenants and owners.

Drilling wells, windmills, stock tanks, storage tanks for home and farm supplies and for irrigating gardens up to one acre are some off the purposes for which these loans will be made.

Miss Grace Clark

H. E. Clark; two brothers, G. H. Clark of Winslow, Ariz., W. J. Clark of Plainview; two sisters, Miss Ada V. Clark of Canyon and Mrs. R. K. Evans of Owatonna, Minn.; four nieves, five nephews and one great nephew.

Miss Clark was born at Northville, S. D., June 20, 1892. The family moved to Claremont, Minn., in 1893; moved to Plainview in 1916, and to Canyon in 1923.

She graduated from the Owatonna high school, completed the Normal Training course, and taught for two years in Minnesota before coming to Texas. She received her B. S. degree from West Texas State, M. A. degree from George Peabody College for Teachers, and did graduate work at the University of Rochester.

Miss Clark was a member of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, Pi Chapter; American Association of University Women; Business Women's Club; Texas State Teachers Association; National Council of Teachers of Mathematics; National Education Association. She had been a member of the Methodist church since she was 12 years old.

Tribute Is Paid

A tribute to your friend and my friend of twenty-three years: in the words of Shelley,

"A portion of the loveliness
Which once she made more lovely."

My observations of her life have been many fold. We lived on the same floor in Cousins Hall for two years. It was there I discovered her understanding and sympathetic nature as she comforted the homesick freshmen girls.

Of the fourteen "A's" she made in mathematics in West Texas State Teachers College ten of them were made in my classes. She always went the second mile in preparation. I found no fault in her. She was an officer in the Alpha Chi Scholarship Society of which I was counselor. She met and solved all problems of the group with distinct honor.

She was treasurer of Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority while I was president. (The state treasurer reported at the National meeting that Grace Clark had sent the only correct report out of sixty-nine chapters in Texas.) I mention this to show her characteristic of thoroughness and her ability to surmount a difficult problem.

She was president of the Canyon Branch of the American Association of University Women when I was a member and many of you know of her excellent leadership in this capacity and her ability to get others to work with her.

She frequently taught demonstration lessons for my classes in "How to Teach High School Mathematics." Each member of the class was required to write a criticism of the demonstration lesson. "Thorough preparation on the part of the teacher, understanding of individual members of her class, modern technique, sympathy and fairness toward students" were phrases most often used in describing Grace Clark, the teacher.

Then she was my next door neighbor for ten years. In her home she was a leader with reason and calm judgment. She was able "from self to keep turning and honor the rest" of her family. Her devotion to her mother and sister was beautiful. She felt that loyalty to her family and to her chosen work was the holiest good in the human heart. In her quiet retiring way she assisted many of us in solving our problems.

Grace Clark loved her home, her school and the classes she sponsored, her neighbors, her church, and all the details that go to make these four into a perfect whole. Her constant thinking of others made you think of her. She loved music, beauty, poetry, harmony, symmetry, and the science venerable, the teaching of which was her chosen work.

She instructed youth in the science of mathematics, but she also assisted every boy and girl in her classroom in the business of daily virtuous living. What teacher can do more? Her belief in teaching is well expressed by R. D. Hitchcock:

"It is a luxury to learn; but the luxury of learning is not to be compared with the luxury of teaching." Often Grace has said to me "I love to study, I thoroughly enjoyed doing the work for my Master's Degree. But every day now I am learning more than I am teaching."

She made the hard things easy for her students; therefore according to Emerson she was an educator.

Grace Clark had courage—that courage "That scorns to bend to mean devices for a sordid end." In her last days she had that courage which conquers all things. It gave strength to her broken body and hope to her loved ones. She had the courage while lying on her bed to do something—she made a beautiful afghan. She had the courage to say to her family a few hours before her departure: "No funeral gloom, my dears, when I am gone—Sing no sad songs for me." She was courageously closing the door on a beautiful, noble, and successful life.

In the words of Landor:

"She had warmed both hands before the fire of life and was ready to depart."

Today this friend of yours and of mine lives in God.

"That God, which ever lives and loves,
One God, one law, one element,
And one far off divine event
To which the whole creation moves."

—Tennyson.

An Irish soldier on duty in Egypt received a letter from his wife saying that there wasn't an able-bodied man left, and she was going to dig the garden herself.

Pat wrote at the beginning of his next letter: "Bridget, please don't dig the garden; that's where the guns are."

The letter was duly censored, and in a short time a lorry-load of men in khaki arrived at Pat's house and dug up the garden from end to end.

Bridget wrote to Pat in desperation, saying that she didn't know what to do, as the soldiers had got the garden dug up, every bit of it.

Pat's reply was short and to the point: "Put in the spuds."

Arlington College Is Subject at the Lions Club Lunch

North Texas A. & M. at Arlington was the subject of a talk given by C. W. Richards before the Lions Club at the Tuesday luncheon. This institution, according to Mr. Richards has an enrollement of 2000 men students during normal times. All men are required to take military training. They are subject to very rigid military discipline. The program is set up in exactly the same way as the army set up.

This institution has 2100 men in the army today and a large percentage of them are majors and colonels.

T 100-piece band leads the cadet corps, which Mr. Richards states is the smartest he has ever seen in a college.

Mr. Richards believes in the value of miiltary education because it makes boys understand the value of discipline and it develops superb physical bodies.

The Rev. J. W. McKinney, of Winfield, Kansas, was the guest of Gus Miller. Mr. McKinney is a brother-in-law of Mr. Miller.

John Winters In Hopes to Straighten Assistance Muddle

John H. Winters, newly appointed executive director of the State Department of Public Welfare, said Monday that every effort is being made and will continue to be made to keep the old people of Texas from losing the federal half of their old age assistance grants.

"I am certain that the legislature in passing Senate Bill 169 intended to assist the war effort by permittin employable persons on the rolls to work without having their grants cut down or stopped. I do not believe that the legislature intended to do this at the cost of losing $21,000,000 a year in federal funds," Mr. Winters said. "I am going to Washington for the hearing on this matter and will use every power vested in me to adjust the differences between the state and federal government in order that we may keep federal money coming to the old people of Texas."

Those eligible for new stoves will include applicants who show they have no usable stove at present and that a stove is needed to heat essential living or working space or is needed for essential cooking..

John S. Humphreys Talked at Rotary Luncheon Tuesday

John S. Humphreys was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday. Mr. Humphreys read from the commencement address which he delivered at Howard Payne College in 1940 when he was honored with the LL. D. Degree. He paid high tribute to the great teachers who had affected his life.

About the only difference between man and monkey is the ability of man to think. The capacity to think is the great heritage of mankind. This continues as long as a man lives.

Education is not confined to the class room, but continues throughout life. There are honest men and women in every walk of life. Making life is more important than making a living.

The world is sick today. There is need of a preacher or a prophet to lead the people, and call upon them to repent, and fear God.

Visitors were: Chaplain Howard B. Scholter of Santa Ana, Calif.; W. M. Teague of Dalhart; Oren Thomas, C. B. McMurtry, Clift Janah, Jim McKnight, Arch Hunsley, all of Amarillo.

"Somewhere In New Guinea"

"Somewhere in New Guinea" a war correspondent was passing by a tent when a voice from within yelled to him to wait a minute. He waited, and then came the request: "Could you put a little piece in the paper about our war bond sales?"

So this is what Robert Cromie, correspondent, heard from Sgt. Ernest Traylor of Wedowee, Ala., and was so impressed that he put the "piece" on the wire:

Bond sales among the enlisted men of the single American bombing unit to which Traylor is attached last month totaled more than $12,000—approximately 66 per cent of the enlisted men's payroll for the entire month. That amount doesn't include bonds bought under the pay allotment plan, a plan to which 32 per cent of the enlisted men in Traylor's unit subscribe.

The amazing record, reported Corsp. Cromie, made by only one of many units making similar purchases from New Guinea, does not include War Bonds bought by officers.

Traylor was quoted as saying he believed one of the reasons these men are buying so many bonds is their desire to have more equipment flow to the South Pacific.

It doesn't sound like complete confidence in the folks at home or in their buddies still in training in America, does it?

To guarantee a volume of bond buying sufficient to assure a steady stream of weapons to the front lines, these first-line fighters themselves are investing heavily in bonds. Their lives are at the service of their country, and so are their dollars. In the Eighth Service Command at present we have only our pay to wager on freedom's biggest stake.

Flights 5 & 6

By "Smitty"

Over the past week-end fifty of our cadets were invited to Sunday dinners and outings. The boys must have enjoyed themselves because we've heard that a good time was had by all. The outings were made possible by the members of the Methodist Church, who served as hosts. From all the boys who attended the outings I say: "Thanks a million."

The second best recreation that the boys have found to pass the time away during their week-ends is horse-back riding. Although most of the boys won't admit it, their first experience is rather painful. I notice that Student Lieutenant Wheatall is standing at Parade Rest in the barracks. You should take a pillow along when you go horse-back riding. Or else see A/S Lewis and get him to teach you to ride.

What Squadron "W" wants to know is: why doesn't certain fellows get a private phone installed for their own personal use and then maybe the other men in the squadron could do a little phoning once in a while. How about that Mr. Jorlett, and you, too, Mr. McDonald?

I give Mr. Sahady about four days to live now. Today in the mail he received, of all things, a saxaphone! The boys enjoy the wailing sounds he creates now, but how about three or four days from now, when that noise starts getting stale?

What is this I hear about our beloved first sergeant going to Amarillo to see his girl-friend and then not recognizing her after getting there. Must be getting absent-minded, aren't you, Mr. Schiedt?

Soldier's Letter

Monday, August 23, 1943.

Dear Mom:

I will take the time to answer your letter now, while I am resting up from that bountiful supper that was served at the Cafeteria. I'm filled to my ears.

Don't worry about my health, Mom. I'm feeling fine. With this training program we have here, a person couldn't help getting into good physical condition. That spare tire I once had around my middle has vanished. Now, if only I could get rid of the fat between my ears.

Spent the week as usual, buried in books. I thought that I was really learning until I took the math test today. Now, every time I think of my score in that exam I hang my head in shame. It was really terrible. It looks as though I will be staying in these week-ends if I don't start getting a little more studious.

I went to Amarillo Saturday evening and I had a swell time. I gave the city the once-over and approved of everything I saw. It sure is a clean town. Nothing like those smoky cities we have back east.

To my regret, Mom, I tried to put on airs while I was in Amarillo. I chose a very fashionable restaurant to eat my supper. Everything was running along very smoothly until they served the soup. Thinking that the meal was over, I mistook the soup bowl for the finger-wash and proceeded to dip my fingers. Imagine my embarrassment, Mom, when the waitress asked me how I enjoyed my soup.

Amarillo had a pretty bad rainstorm Saturday night and it was just my luck to get caught in it. I had been in a theater and came out right in the middle of the downpour. I spied a hot dog stand across the street and decided to go across for a sandwich. I figured if I'd run across the street very quickly I wouldn't get very wet. So, across the street I ran. That is, almost across the street. Just as I reached the other side I slipped and fell in the gutter. Did I ever get soaked? From my waist down to my ankles. So, I had to go to another theater and sit through two pictures while my trousers dried out.

Another group of students have finished their college training and have left for the classification center. Gosh, Mom, it won't be long until I'll be leaving here. It seems like only yesterday that I arrived here.

I went out to the canyons again yesterday. Didn't have my buddy with me, but I enjoyed myself anyhow. To my regret I couldn't get the horse that I had rode the previous Sunday, so I was given another horse. I had to get acquainted all over again. But, after I showed the horse who was boss (by a little persuasion) we got along smoothly. Ah, what a horseman I'm turning out to be. I've only used one bottle of linament this time.

Well, Mom, I guess that I shall have to quit now. It is getting time to do a little drilling and I must massage my tender feet for the coming ordeal. My corns always seem to know when it's time for drill periods.

Until the next time, Mom, I'll say, Love,

"Dusty."

War Dogs

War Dogs, intrepid members of the Army's K-9 Corps, are rapidly making their weight—and numbers—felt in the Air Forces, according to Lieut. Roland John MacDonald, K-9 Staff Officer at headquarters for the West Coast Training Center, Santa Ana.

"A number of our Army Air Bases have already received their consignment of these dogs and their handlers," Lieut. MacDonald explained.

Within the next few weeks, all WCTC stations in the 11 western state command will be using dogs for duties varying from sentry to attack.

Highly trained before assignment by the Quartermaster Corps from the two Army training centers maintained for man's best friend, these canine specialists have already proved their value in the Army Air Forces. Many of them qualify as sentry dogs, accompanying guards on night tours of duty where their keenness of hearing and small make for a bigger and better job of guarding air installations. Attack dogs, used to protect fenced properties and interiors of buildings, are equally praised by commanding officers who have witnessed their work.

Dogs now being used to challenge the work of saboteurs and thieves were donateed to Dogs for Defense and turned over by that organization to the Army. It is estimated that many thousands of new volunteers will be needed in coming months.

By A. Stramler

One of the most plaintiff cries of the Stafford Hall boys is, "When do we get time to study?"

Two of our boys were made happy over the week-end by being visited by their parents. A-S Thurman's parents came from Rockspring, Texas and they were delighted with the peace and quiet of Canyon. A-S Trammel was the other boy who played the role of host to his parents.

How do they do it? That's what we're wondering. To have beautiful girls visit us is something that we all dream about, but very seldom have happen. Maybe you'll tell us how it is done, A-S Keller.

Monday was the big day for the students in Stafford Hall. That was the day that they started flying. One more step in the march towards the winning of those coveted wings. Next week your reporter should have some nice stories from the airport to tell about.

The athletic field resembled a walkathon last week-end. An awful lot of boys were walking tours. Sure do hope that I shall keep out of that select group.

Till the next time, when I return with a flash, I bid you "Keep Smiling."

Dropped First Bombs on Germany

The first American airman to drop a bomb on German territory in World War I and his counterpart of World War II are today working side by side to prepare efficient new bombardiers in the Army Air Forces West Coast Training Center.

Capt. Howard G. Rath, of 1161 San Marino, Calif., now assigned to the bombardier school at Deming (New Mexico) Army Air Field, pulled the crude lever which dropped the first bomb on Germany June 12, 1918. His target was the Dommarv-Baroncourat railhead in the Brien iron basin, marshalling yards for trains carrying ore to German steel mills on the Rhine. As lead bombardier in the 96th Bombing Squadron, America's first, Captain Rath released bombs which signaled action to every other plane in the squadron.

Lieut. Bernard L. Bell, of Chicago, now attached to the Santa Ana Army Air Base and widely used as a lecturer at West Coast Training Center schools, dropped another "first" on German-held land just 24 years later—in June, 1942, only two months after he was commissioned at Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, New Mexico. Member of the first All-American crew crew to fly over the Continent. Lieut. Bell released his "eggs" from a Douglas Boston attack bomber which was part of a 12-plane British formation. His objective too was a railroad marshalling yard—that at Hazebrouch, France. Successful results of this mission, a test of American bombing methods in actual combat, were largely responsible for setting up future American bombing raids on the Continent.

Both officers have been decorated for their gallantry. Capt. Rath holds the Distinguished Service Cross, Lieut Bell the Purple Heart for injury to his ears received on a subsequent high-altitude mission.

Hoard Heat!

Its mighty hot to be talking about Hoarding Heat! But next winter all of us will wish that we had thought about repairing our homes to conserve heat.

Stop the cracks in the siding; patch the roofs; check the doors and windows in order to Hoard Heat when the cold blasts of winter blow.

GOOD LIGHTING

COSTS LESS

Because Good Light Serves Its Intended Purpose Better.

When you buy Electricity you are buying a necessity. You are buying something that is expected to give you satisfaction, comfort, and a continuation of good health. Poor Lighting gives you none of these. That is why Good Lighting costs less, because it is actually what you want and need.

If you cooperate by installing proper size bulbs (100 watts or better), see that lamp shades are not of the dark, colored pattern, and keep wiring and connections properly repaired, you get good lighting and diminish the possibilities of eyestrain. Fire hazzards are removed. Then with your cooperation you get GOOD LIGHTING that costs less in many ways.

Precaution and common sense today will help build tomorrow's America to greater heights. Get the benefits of GOOD LIGHTING today. It will profit you in days to come.

WINTERIZE YOUR HOME

LET the sun shine—on your home, while you get it ready for winter: and when cold weather comes, your heat-tight home will be as comfortable as on sunny days in July! Every home must be conditioned so as not to waste fuel: heating equipment must be put in good repair; to help Uncle Sam help our boys to Victory!

Your Government wants you to save fuel for victory. It's not only a good idea for the duration, but it's good business for your own pocketbook. Proper insulation of your home will give you substantial savings year after year.

If you have a well insulated home your fuel bills through the coldest winter will be much less than they ever were. You'll marvel, then, at the economy of clean, automatic gas central heating.

Good Attendance Indicated for WT

Housing Lists Are Being Prepared; More Rooms Will Be Needed

Indications of a fine school year for 1943-44 are to be seen on every hand for West Texas State College, according to reports which come from the administrative offices.

Cousins Hall and Randall Hall are both filled almost to capacity. Most of the cooperative houses for girls are full, and young men are coming to the campus daily seeking places to stay this year. The Army Air Corps Training Detachment will probably be kept at full strength which is four hundred men. People who have rooms or rooms and board, or apartments are receiving frequent inquiries.

It was stated yesterday by Mrs. Geraldine Green, Dean of Women, and Mitchell Jones, Assistant Dean of Men in charge of housing, that the housing lists are being prepared and that people in town who wish to list living quarters may do so through Thursday, August 26.

A few places are still available for boys on the college farm, and young men who are interested in living there should communicate with Professor Frank R. Phillips of the Agriculture Department.

Prairie Lodge which has been used as living quarters for girls part of the time and for men part of the time will be available this year as a residence for men. It will be supervised by the college.

The outlook is excellent for every division of the college. Director Roy Boger reports that the Amarillo Center is receiving many inquiries about work to be offered there during the coming year. Correspondence enrollment is unusually high for August, and the great number of people who are out of school but trying to prepare for jobs will probably keep the enrollment higher than usual for many months to come.

Expenses of attending the college have not materially increased.

THOMPSON'S

She wants to win an unpopularity contest!

Elizabeth Jenkins seeks title of "Most hated by Axis in 1943!"

THE AXIS has probably never heard of Miss Elizabeth Jenkins—but she's doing her level best to change that!

For example:

Elizabeth works in an essential industry thereby releasing, in effect, a fighting man. And out of the salary she draws for that work she puts 22% into War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. She figures that her investment may help to maintain the three fighting men who are closest to her—her two brothers and her father.

"They're fighting for me, so the least I can do is to help buy the tools they fight with!" says Elizabeth.

Her father commands a brigade of the North Carolina State Guard. He saw action overseas in the last war and his stories have made Elizabeth keenly aware of the importance of her investment in War Bonds. Her father has explained that no matter how much spirit and fight a soldier has, he needs the best equipment that money can buy. He has also pointed out that American soldiers are the best equipped in the world.

Miss Jenkins wants to keep them that way, because in addition to her father, she has two brothers in the Army.

Lieutenant Tom is an antiaircraft artilleryman. Captain Jack is in the Air Corps. So Elizabeth is reasonably sure that in one way or another, the Axis will hear from the Jenkins family in the near future. It makes no difference to Elizabeth whether her War Bond investment buys bombs or shells—either one will get her a few more votes for the title she's seeking.

Are you doing as much for America's future as Elizabeth Jenkins? Are you as anxious as she is to get the war over and get the war won? Every dollar you can lend hurries Victory, so . . .

Weren't there a few more dollars in your last pay envelope that could have gone into War Bonds—but didn't? Get out a pencil right now, and see if you can't boost the percentage you're putting aside for Uncle Sam —and yourself!
